TravelManagers first National Conference scheduled for 14 & 15th November

TravelManagers has had an excellent response from its personal travel managers eager to attend the company's first annual conference.

The conference is being held at Sydney's Sheraton on the Park Hotel commencing at midday on Friday 14th November and culminating with a Gala Dinner on the evening of Saturday 15th November

Commenting on the excellent response to the Inaugural Conference, TravelManagers' Executive General Manager Mandy Scotney said: "Our personal travel managers are committed and professional about their chosen careers and that is very obvious when you talk to them whether its one-on-one or as part of a group at our regional meetings. This is our inaugural conference and with delegates coming from all over the country this will be the first time most of them will have had an opportunity to meet their peers from interstate and compare experiences and swap tips and their enthusiasm to maximize this opportunity is very encouraging"
